President's letter

Barb Rauckhorst,
President NCHS

Hello Hosta Friends,

I am writing this as the holidays are fast approaching. The weather is not exactly conducive to thoughts of gardening, but the days will now be getting longer, and spring will surely be here much quicker than we thought. In the meantime, there are so many gardening catalogs to study and online sites to check out. Try something new this year. Perhaps a perennial flower, or maybe a vegetable you've never grown before. Maybe start something from seed. Gardening brings with it so many different opportunities to learn and expand your knowledge.

Be sure to take advantage of all the opportunities that our group and the rest of the Hosta world provide you. We will have interesting and informative programs.

Hosta College will be here again in a few short months. Our "not to be missed" meeting will be our April meeting at Dayton nursery. Owner Tom Dayton will give the presentation. I have seen Tom speak on a few occasions and have been very impressed with how knowledgeable he is. We will participate in the leaf show with Midland Hosta Society again this year. The National Convention and Hosta Tailgating are always very popular. We are adding a campfire evening this year. I'm looking forward to this event because it will be a great way to spend time with all of you in a totally relaxing setting. I think everyone will enjoy this one!

Keep your eye on our calendar for details on our upcoming events. Have a wonderful Holiday season and I hope to see you all at our February meeting.

Many thanks to David Bibby for his great photos of the Annual Meeting. You can see more pictures that Mary Bibby has posted on the website. Thanks, too, to Mary for taking over the website.

Our speaker was Master Gardener Greg Cada who spoke about the "Evolution of American Homes and Landscapes". He showed examples of how the styles of homes and gardens have changed from the Colonial period to mid-century suburban.

As your dreams of sugarplums, family and the special events of the Holidays fade and you start thinking about what is under the cold snow, as Barb said, study catalogs and check out websites. I have included information below about AHS which is one of the best resources for hosta info. Browse the Hosta Library. Learn about your favorite hostas and look for new ones. Check the websites for sellers both local and all over the country. It's a great way to pass a gloomy January or February day.

You will note dates have been posed for Hosta College and the AHS National Convention. I have included Convention information and forms in this newsletter. For Hosta College, please start checking the website in early January to be alerted to registration dates, etc. <https://www.ihostohio.org/gllhc>. Note your membership in North Coast Hosta Society makes you as member of the Great Lakes Region Hosta Society (GLRHS) and registration starts February 3.

AHS Membership The American Hosta Society

(AHS) is a society dedicated to the study and improvement of the genus Hosta and the dissemination of general and scientific knowledge about hostas.

There are many benefits for the members that result from these efforts, both social and in nursery trade. AHS members receive several publications a year, including two colorful issues of The Hosta Journal (mailed), four eNewsletters (emailed), and The Online Hosta Journal (posted on the web for members only). These Journals include articles on cultivation tips, propagation techniques, landscape uses, new cultivars and old species, pioneers and personalities, scientific advances, convention awards, gardens, and news about the AHS.

Membership provides an opportunity to attend national meetings and conventions which offer educational and scientific presentations, garden tours, judge's clinics, and a chance to see the latest and best hosta in the hosta show.

Other membership benefits: A Biennial AHS Membership Directory. The privilege of visiting display gardens throughout the country, many of which are only open to AHS members. An invitation to exhibit your favorite hostas and compete for recognition in various AHS national and regional hosta shows. Developing friendships with people who share an interest in growing hostas. Access to Members Only section of the AHS website.

Another benefit of becoming a new member is you receive a voucher from the AHS Membership Secretary good for $15.00 towards any purchase at sponsoring nurseries.

LOVE
Philadelphia
June 20-23

Philadelphia—
the City of Brotherly Love

Philadelphia—
the site of the first American Hosta Society convention in 1968

Philadelphia—
the city throwing the party to celebrate our 50th Anniversary!

The Delaware Valley Hosta Society invites you to Philadelphia not only for a convention that's full from start to finish, but also for all that the Philadelphia area has to offer.

Take some time to savor the history in Philadelphia, with its important place in our nation's history, and its important place in the history of the AHS! We'll visit gardens on historic properties, and you can take advantage of the optional Wednesday special tour to visit Old City (or take a few extra days at our hotel's great rate, with easy access downtown).

Philadelphia's arts culture may call you to visit one of the great museums. The optional Wednesday tour will include a drop-off at the Barnes Collection, where you can see treasures of impressionist art. And you'll be impressed by the hosta arts as well in the Hosta Show, where a special division will recognize hostas of historic importance.

If campus-hopping is your thing, take a stroll past one of the area's great educational institutions, several of which have important associated arboreta. Or save your leanings towards learning for the convention, where we'll present a full curriculum of hosta-focused presentations and discussions, and tour seven spectacular private gardens that feature not only the best in hosta cultivars but also the best in unusual companion plants.

We've stuffed our vendors' space full of the coolest shady sales folk, so shopping should be in your plans. For pants, not plants, just down the road is the incredible King of Prussia shopping complex. An innovative Friday schedule for the AHS auction should also keep your charge cards active.

We can't neglect the most august events of each and every AHS convention: recognition of the recipients of the three big awards: the Alex J. Summers service award, the Eunice Fisher hybridizer's award, and the Benedict garden performance award. After all, the AHS is a society—of people!

All this is served up with a heaping help of Philly food and fun. Check out the online meals page to see how much food is included! We'll make sure you have a good time. We're making every day, and every night, special.

And as a very special treat, we're inviting everyone to join us for a visit to the incomparable Longwood Gardens (for only a $38 supplement). You'll have plenty of time to visit the garden from late afternoon through nightfall, when you'll see the incredible $100 million renovated Main Fountain Gardens in a spectacle of sight and sound.

You'll definitely want to stay at the DoubleTree (Philadelphia-Valley Forge) so you don't miss a minute of the fun! Visit our website to link to the hotel's reservation system, which ensures that we get credit for your stay.

On the reverse you'll find an all-in-one registration form, or go to the website to submit your registration electronically. Invite a friend, either at for the full experience or for our half-price "Hosta Widow(er)" rate. As a special incentive, the AHS is holding a sweepstakes, rewarding two early-bird registrants with a full reimbursement of the base registration price! See the website for details, and sign up today!

Hostas Are More Than Just Interesting Leaves

Have you looked closely at the scapes lately?

by Jim Wilkins (Reprinted from the Mid-South Hosta Society newsletter and others in the Hosta Network)

With each passing season I notice more and more the differences among hostas. Part of that skill has been acquired by looking at more than just the leaf.

Don't misunderstand me. The most dramatic and significant impact of hostas comes from the leaves. However, by emphasizing the foliage, we may miss the subtle beauty and some fun. As a hosta society we honor the leaves. If one of our hybridizers were to create a hosta with a yellow or red flower, all of us would likely want such a plant. But if its leaf was not unique, it would not win an award in the seedling class at the cut-leaf show.

Consider the flower scapes. Some are rigid and some arch. Some have orderly ridges. Some are very tall compared to the plant's height. Others may be so short as to have all or part of the blooming under the plant's foliage. Some plants have several flower scapes per division. The color of the flower scape often mirrors the color of the central part of the leaf and petiole.

The hosta "bloom" Some hosta leaves have a waxy coat called "bloom," which is what makes blue leaves blue and which, after time, may melt off and create dark green leaves. Have you noticed that flower scapes and even seed pods also have a bloom?

The bloom on a scape persists long after the bloom on the leaf is gone. Flower scapes can also have red pigment. This can vary from a light stippling to an intense uniform color such as seen on H. 'Sparkling Burgundy.' In some cases the purple color extends to the seed pods. This is the case with H. 'Purple Passion,' making it a very striking plant when the seed pods are left on the scape. Several of my seedlings from H. 'Kikutii' var. caput-avis have purple flower scapes. One of them has a very unusual modification; development of the purple appears to be photo (light) dependent. The portion of the scape below the foliage is green and that above the foliage is purple.

Some flower scapes have leaves arising from them. These vestigial leaves or scape foliations can be very striking. They often mimic leaves that arise from the crown. Herb Benedict had once commented that they are often seen in young, vigorous plants, and become insignificant in established clumps. Splashed vestigial leaves can be a useful guide as to which flowers are apt to produce variegated progeny.

We regularly talk about flower color, shape, size and fragrance. Other flower attributes might distinguish one hosta from another. Do most of the flowers arise from one side of the scape or are they regularly distributed around the scape? Do spent flowers readily drop off the scape or are they retained until they shrivel and desiccate? Are the flowers closed? This can be very beautiful because the flowers are not pollinated and seem to be retained longer before dropping off.

Orientation of the individual flowers has great influence on the beauty of the bloom. Some flowers droop with their open end down, while others face straight Remove the scape? Miss most of the interest!

Some hosta growers remove their flower scapes just after they emerge, and miss most of the interest. Many hostaphiles remove their flower scapes as the last few flowers are spent. This, it is felt, puts more energy into the plant and promotes more rapid growth. It is also good to remove the scape unless you want to grow the seeds, before the seed pods ripen and the seeds are spread all over the garden. It can be difficult discriminating between a volunteer seedling and one of your prized hostas.

By cutting flower scapes early, you will miss some beauty and interest in the seed pods. Some are a lovely dark purple, some are striped, some are gold, some are large, and some might have a waxy coat or bloom.

Dr. Wilkins (a retired dermatologist) from Jackson, Michigan, is a past president of AHS (1998-2001), a past International Registrar for the genus hosta, and recipient of the Alex J. Summers Distinguished Merit Award in 2007. Among the cultivars he introduced are 'Curtain Call,' 'Fort Knox,' 'Leading Lady,' 'Spartan Glory,' 'Ultraviolet Light' and 'Wolverine.'

GARDEN GOSSIP: BY CINDY HUGHES

Best wishes to everyone for a Merry Christmas, Happy Holidays, and for a healthy, happy and prosperous New Year.

Check the Calendar, Mark your Dates , Pay your Dues and be sure to volunteer to help with one of our functions. The events planned for 2018 have varied meeting times to accommodate those who cannot make the usual Saturdays.

We all look forward to a winter that is kind to our hostas; a spring with plenty of rain and no late frost or hail and to seeing each other again in February.

“God bless us, every one!”

— Charles Dickens, A Christmas Carol
